PRESS RELEASE

SANTA FE - The New Mexico Court of Appeals has issued an Order on April 23, 2013 for Rehearing in the case of Southwest Energy Efficiency Project, et al v. The New Mexico Construction Industries Commission and the New Mexico Construction Industries Division.

Previously, the New Mexico Court of Appeals issued a Memorandum Opinion in this matter on April 4, 2013. The Court's order for a Rehearing has the effect of suspending the opinion of the court until its final determination.

Based upon the Court's Order for Rehearing and until a final decision is issued, the New Mexico Construction Industries Division will continue to enforce the revised construction codes adopted by the Construction Industries Commission on June 10, 2011
